Dear Parents and Students,

using any book, magazine, article, etc. of your choice available to you online or at home, please fill out the attached daily reading log to track the number of minutes you are independently reading each day. Challenge yourself to build up your “reading muscles” and increase the number of minutes you are reading each day.

For example, on day one, start with reading for 15 minutes. Increase the amount of time you are reading by 5 minutes each day until you are reading for a full 45 minutes.

Make sure to include your family on your reading adventures and share with them the things you are reading about. Parents, this is a great way to start an interesting conversation with your child and work with them to encourage independent reading. Ask them tons of questions about the stories they are reading and try to find further information about any topics they find interesting.

Please reach out any time with questions or concerns!
