March 30, 2020

Dear Fifth Grade Students,

This week in math we will be reviewing basic math operations. You will be planning a birthday party using your math skills and your fantastic imagination. Please read the directions carefully before you begin.

The extension ideas on the last page are for your enjoyment and to exercise your creativity. They are for FUN ONLY!

A multiplication sheet has also been included in the materials which you may use anytime you need it.

During the next week’s work, we will be using the information you gathered and computed to complete some additional math review and practice. This activity has a subtitle of “Week 2”.

We also know how much most of you love playing “The Product Game”, otherwise known as “That Fun Game with Dice”. So, we have included a copy of that with your review work.

Please stay happy and healthy.

We all miss you!

Sincerely,

Your Math Teacher