PREPARE FOR LIFE AFTER HIGH SCHOOL

The event will focus on post-secondary transition, community agencies and vocational programs available to support students with disabilities. We will be featuring three resources who will offer guidance and provide valuable information.

Alison Kandrovny and Kim Emmet, Employment & Rehabilitation Specialists with Community Vocational Services, will be available to discuss customized support options for individuals that require help with independent lifestyles, employment opportunities, instruction in the workplace, and socialization.

Jennifer Passenti, Lackawanna College Lake Region Center, will discuss the differences between high school and college accommodations for students with disabilities.

Maria Massino and Monica Amditis, Office of Vocational Rehabilitation Counselors, can help explain how OVR can help your child. OVR is a state agency whose mission is to help people with disabilities become employed. Learn about Pre-Employment Transition Services that are available through OVR.
